A COPY OF THE STORY “THEOPHANA, THE PUB-KEEPER”

(Summary)

The article provides a phonetic, morphological and lexical analysis of a copy of the story “Theophana, the Pub-Keeper”, that can be found in a miscellany without jusy from 17–18th century from the collection of Sts Cyril and Methodius National Library under number 326 (509). The copy has been published in 2005. The language analysis justifies the characterization of the transcript as Bulgarian despite the orthography without jusy.
