

ON OLD BULGARIAN MENAION COLLECTIONS AND THEIR LEXICAL COMPOSITION

(Summary)

The article discusses a 15th c. manuscript from the Moscow Academy of Theology (a reading menaion for the month of February call number MDA 92.1) and puts forward the hypothesis that it together with the well-known Codex Suprasliensis from the middle of the 10th c.) belongs to a complete collection of reading menaia for the entire ecclesiastical year. In all probability this collection was translated in a literary centre linked with the Preslav literary school.

Elka Mircheva,
Institute for Bulgarian Language – BAS